

David's Story

I sent you an email awhile ago, asking about consciousness etc... I have been reading your site since then. Slowly, not overwhelmingly, but he has a question...'he' meaning me.

As the 3d 'he' changes, things don't look the same:

'HE' has just spoken with his sister. She was telling me all the little details about people from the past, The "what there up to's" and the drama that follows. He left home about 3 years ago. Now lives in Los Angeles. HE was raised in a CRAZY environment. He always felt less than, alone, not as good, not as attractive, not as worthwhile, not as attractive, body dismorphia, always something wrong with him. Now after he spoke with his sister, she sent him email pics of herself and the friends they grew up with who are like family. People he always felt -not good around, or less than (he felt like that around everyone, but these people sparked those feelings and memories more since they were like "family" and were around the most)

While viewing the pics he (meaning me lol) looked at those faces and something was different. He didn't see what he used to? Was it because they all gained weight? Because they all looked a lil older? All of them had kids that stressed them out? The faces were the same faces?

He didn't find them as pretty. Not even pretty at all. But before he did, even his sister didn't look the same. Cute girls. But not how I used to see them, even my sister - whom I love.

Is it becuz he's moved to LA from Alaska and the beauty here is way beyond?

Is it becuz he's not just viewing them physically, he can see there life choices in their faces and swollen bodies? The drinking, dating losers, insecurities?

Is it becuz he still sees himself in his sisters eyes?

Is it becuz he is a jerk for not seeing everyone and everything as perfect?

OR IS THAT THE PERFECT PART, That those feelings - the way they look ,the way he feels - is perfect- for its a path to knowing?

I love these people alot, their a part of my past. The feelings around them I used to have, was great for my journey, but now that HE has been in Los Angeles for 3 years and this awakening is happening, nothing seems the same, physically, emotionally, its all changing... But changing into what... unconditional love? Why cant he see the beauty in them as he used to? Or was it never true beauty he saw in them, was it just worthlessness in him that put them on thorns...? Or has that beauty dissolved forever in the realms of the past, and it has evolved into what he sees today?

His sister asks, " When am I gonna see you, I miss you?" Yet he feels butterflies in his stomach becuz, He doesn't miss her. He doesn't miss his mother, HE is on a amazing awakening journey (when once mentioned to them was laughed at and ridiculed just like when he was a child) He loves them. Deeply, but yet, doesn't need them right now. He was just quiet, not saying, OHH I miss u too, or YEAH. Just silent. The ' SOUL' is all love, why didnt he feel that YEAH I MISS U TOO? EVEN THOUGH YOU HAVENT CHANGED AND ARE STILL THE SAME AT 27 AS YOU WERE AT 17. I LOVE AND MISS U TOO?

He's confused. He doesn't want to beat himself up for not being "SC" Spiritually correct. HEHE.

Thanks!

David!

leep_19@yahoo.com